

THE FACTS & REALITY

APPLICANTS WITH JUSTICE HISTORY

- 1 Most people who leave incarceration do not commit crimes again.

- 2 Background checks are not reliable predictors of risk, despite what we've been told.

- 3 People with a conviction in their past are reliable tenants—just like everybody else.

- 4 Renting to someone who has repaid their debt to society helps make our communities safer.

- 5 Justice-involved New Yorkers have access to service providers who can help them continue on a positive pathway and navigate their freedom.

OPEN MINDS
OPEN DOORS

A white key graphic is positioned vertically, with its head (the circular part) acting as the letter 'O' in the word 'DOORS'. The key's shaft and bit extend downwards from the 'O'.

www.openmindsopendoorsnyc.com